Could these fantastic Auroras, seen as far south as Nevada, be the Sign in the Sky of which Fr Martin spoke?

Fantastic red 'roarers' (as I call them) were seen shortly before Hitler made his move. He believed it was the Sign for him to make his move.

Well, any comments now? Were the Fantastic Northern Lights a Sign, as Father Malachi said they were before WW1, or just a coincidence, having nothing to do with 09/11/01?

I'm certain I remember hearing Fr Malachi say there would be an unmistakable sign in the sky before the start of another terrible War (I'm paraphrasing).

Seems the sign of a large number of charged particles hitting the magnetosphere.

Pretty typical for the peak of a solar cycle around the time of equinox.

What is it with you WeatherMen being Dyed in the Wool Skeptics? Rainmaker made the same comment to me. Actually he reminded my Scientific side that I know perfectly well what causes Aurora Borealis.

My Spiritual said to Rainmaker (and I'll say to you), "Ahhhh but God created everything. He certainly has the Power to manipulate his Creations, like the Solar Cycle, in order to make a Sign for us!!"

Dominic Cantin has an awesome aurora photo he calls the big bear [for the constellation it was near]. I think it looks more cat-like...complete with a faint fang !!!

http://www.spaceweather.com/aurora/gallery_01oct01.html

I get the feeling it is a creation of the Divine !!
For more of Cantin; click on the "more" after the other images he took.
Enjoy....Nan.

Perhaps God programmed some of us to help others understand a small part of the wonders he has created. Maybe for our own good. I try to keep an open mind. I've never seen the Aurora, I hope to someday.

Dear Maryals:

Perhaps it was also a coincidence that the iron cross found at the WTC on the 13th of September was the vigil of the "Feast of the Exaltation of the Cross" and that American Forces struck Afghanistan on October 7, the Feast of the Holy Rosary, and also the same day that the Battle of Lepanto was fought against the Islamic forces.

Perhaps God is telling us something?

Thanks everyone for the input. Yet this little Topic isn't as "hot" as some others. Interesting. I'm curious about why "readers" haven't expressed an opinion.

Is it too "spooky" when a documented premonition comes true? And I didn't even specify "war" in my posting of 30 March. Just something very terrible.

Interesting.

Oh, yes, WxFreak, just as Fox Mulder appreciated Dana Scully for keeping him honest, I appreciate Rainmaker (and now you) for keeping me honest.

Just don't ever get nasty!

Maryals, I'm sorry, I haven't read this thread since Oct 8 for some reason. Too much going on I guess.

I have been wondering how long the iron cross at ground zero will be allowed to stand, before someone is offended and insists it be removed?

deermom, isn't that the truth? Man...we're just lucky the mayor didn't have it taken down before the Saudi Prince came to insult us with his presence...Mayor Guilianni is alot different than I thought him to be.

I don't think we're gonna see any of that PC crap in NYC any time soon.
But it would be appropriate, I think, to eventually move that iron cross to that little Church, the one built in the 1700's and survived the blast without a scratch!
Just a thought.

Or, perhaps, leave it in place and have the proposed memorial designed around it?

Hello Everyone!!
I heard the reporter say that a Franciscan priest went to the site and blessed the cross; also that it will be preserved as a memorial.
Reference is still being made to the fact that throughtout a worker's shift, they go to the foot of the cross and meditate for a few minutes before returning to work.
I think PC days are waning , I doubt that cross is going anywhere.....
Maryals, what little church do you mean? Where?

Yes Linda, I saw that news report last week. Thank you for reminding us about it. Wish the Networks would tell more about it.

It's this little Church, built of stone, I think it's called Saint Paul's. George Washington would go there. I think it's well within the Zone known as "Ground Zero". Yet not a stone was cracked or touched. A lot of dust and debris got blown into the building, but there is absolutely no damage!
