Joe:

My sentiments also, in regard to this weekend host. When I tuned into the show I wondered if Mike Siegel himself had been abducted! He should absolutely screen these guest hosts and make sure they offer content that resonates with the themes of C2C AM! It appears from the 5-01-00 show that Siegel fully intends to take control and advance the forum... Siegel should not trust the network people to put anything out there he has not scrutinized. I tuned the show out after listening to this off the wall stuff!

Hi, Linnea!

Ah, but when I think about it, did Mike have any control over the choice of the weekend hosts? On Sunday night we had another guy --- I believe that his name is Ian Punnitt --- who is studying to be a Presbyterian minister but who seems to have no problem talking about the Knights Templar with Jim Marrs! The Knights Templar were destroyed by institutional medieval Christianity as a mortal threat to the power of the Church --- and seven centuries later a Presbyterian-minister-to-be calmly admits his fascination with them! Doesn't there seem to be some sort of a conflict here, Linnea? I think that there is.

The bottom line is a simple one. Many --- possibly most --- of the people who listen to COAST-TO-COAST have spouses, children and mortgages and they wear snappy business suits to mainstream jobs. But don't be fooled --- for all of the bourgeois trappings, these are NOT bourgeois mainstream people. The mainstream bourgeoisie is centered upon an orgy of hedonistic consumerism and is based upon metaphysical, political and psychological denial. Now "the suits" know very well that the mainstream bourgeoisie have the money in our society, so it is VERY much in their best interests to "mainstream" these interests in order to get a shot at its advertising dollars. But there is only so much that one can do for so long to "mainstream" these interests before they evaporate completely into drivel. And we must never forget that it was the wacko freaks --- many of them with spouses, kids, mortgages and business suits --- who built up COAST-TO-COAST. That, Linnea, is the bottom line, as far as I can tell. And, Linnea, the suits do not want --- cannot want --- to admit this!

Art Bell is currently out of the picture. His son has serious psychological problems; he is fighting in the courts to clear his name; and his father has just died! But his son will heal; his name will be cleared; and he will go on after his father's death. And just perhaps, one day, when he is bored and looking for something to do, Art will flick the switch on his ham rig and rise from the dead in a format that "the suits" cannot possibly touch. And wouldn't that be a delicious situation, huh?

I just heard that every --- EVERY --- single radio station in the United States broadcasting at more than 10,000 watts is owned by one of THREE companies. Clear Channel is one of the three. What hope does Mike have?

Regards to all,

Hi, Joe:

I am going to email mike Siegel to see who is selecting the 'bumper music' on the C2C Show. This may be one of the ways the 'producers' are co-opting the 'message'. The bumper music selections can have the effect of trivializing the message. An example from a show the other night, when Mike was interviewing an astrologer. I have studied the art of astrological 'synchronicity' for awhile...In between interview segments on this show--the bumper music was something about believing in 'miracles' and 'dreaming'! Hmmm? Could this be a subtle (or not so subtle) message that the subject of astrology is somehow related to 'miracles' and 'dreaming'?

Another thing I noticed, was the announcement at the beginning of certain segments, that the show is being brought to us by "The Premiere Radio Network"--in the spot where the message used to be the show was "coming to you from the high desert" "from the kingdom of Nye"...

Thoughts?

Linnea

Yeah Yeah, that's the problem, the bumper music. You must have run out of insults for Mike, let's go after the producers!

I think that bumper music is a distraction. The Cusco stuff tends to blend in well with the C2C format.

Greenjeans will probably surface again, even if he has to hire a teenaged hacker to manage it.

I guess I might have been a little harsh cuz of some people attacking others on this forum...I haven't been one of those that bad mouthed anyone, but (KR) and that wasn't bad, just truthful...Seems he was threatened and felt he wanted to attack....Now others are on a bumner...Doesn't need to be that way...I've enjoyed there posts, and thoughts...I just think there might have been a miss understanding somewhere in the process of growing pains...You know we care for the subject matter here, or we wouldn't be here...right, huh ? Got any thoughts you would like to add ???

jeri,

I guess we're more like a family than we thought 😊
I think you're right about there being a misunderstanding. I hope we can all put it behind us and move on. Life is too short.
I feel a fondness for the people here, and it makes me feel really bad when stuff like this happens.

I have not been one to question Premiere's motives until now. Ever since I was booted off Rowland's BBS, I've wondered why. Those familiar with my postings know me to be an understanding person who tries not to offend.

My favorite forums are those concerning religion, faith, and esoteric mysteries.

One of my topics I began was "Is Jesus God?" After getting tired of some posters' preaching (instead of conversing) and quoting scriptures from Paul, I posted a piece on the alleged apostleship of Paul.

SYSOP told me I was off topic so I started a folder on this subject. After several postings making the point that Paul was not Christ's apostle, I was banned without a word from SYSOP. After a day my topic was removed.

I couldn't figure out why until I read a few posts here. Joe Quinn mentioned under Caution/potential danger ahead that one of Mike's guest hosts was "Bob Lounsbury, a somewhat conservative christian..." Joe also wondered if mike picked this host or did Premiere.

I have listened to Mike enough to know he didn't pick the guest host.

Then I read in last night's show/guest/Glenn Kimball, Shepherd post a e-mail from Dr. Kimball. He had much to say about Robert Ghostwolf but what i thought was interesting was these two quotes below.

"It has been over a year since I have done a live show on Coast to Coast."

"...when Lisa Lyon, the producer of the show, called me and asked if I had a topic worthy of an interview with the new host that didn't have anything to do with religion, I told her that I did."

Why is it okay for Premiere to have a Christian Conservative as a guest host but not okay to have Dr. Kimball on to talk about religion?!!

Me thinks I smell a rat!

Good points made Rex...even I thought it was strange when Dr.Kimball was asked if he had anything to talk about other than "religion". That was strange in itself. Actually, considering if you remember the last time he was on his second book about the Hidden Politics of the Crucifixion was about to be released and he was invited by Art to discuss this topic at a later date...it never happened.

People get very sensitive when it comes to religious beliefs and particulars. So it's no doubt that censoring those who have different oppions has become a trend of all generations.

Those people (Rex, Amanda, and others) who have been banned from Rowlands BBS were banned for a reason. I've read their MANY controversial posts and were told by the sysop "not to ruffle feathers" or the post was rude or demeaning to the topic at hand. I don't agree that Keith bans those who post something negative about Premiere or Mike. Go back and see for yourself on the "other" BBS if you think I'm wrong.

Jimmy,

Thanks for your input. But I don't agree with you. I haven't been banned from the board. But I was paying very close attention to what was going on.

I've seen post that doesn't break any of the rules, removed within 3 minutes. I've seen posters become frustrated with not being able to figure out what would be allowed to be posted. All they would be told was their post was "off topic". But NO attempt was made to explan exactly where their post would be "on topic." And IF they attempted to make a thread for their topic, it would be removed.

Running into a brick wall constantly tends to make one testy.

Since the posts have all been removed, what is there to see? It is what WAS removed, that cause the problem. And it is what was said later, that contenues the lies and the hurt felt.

I'm not saying there wasn't rude and off topic posts. I'm just saying that all isn't what it seemed. Either then, or now.

Most of the people who post here, was monitoring the board, just as close as Keith was. Many have kept cyps of posts that Keith deleted.

If you want to see rude, check out Keith's posts on this board. The real big difference is, his posts started out hateful, for no reason. The posts on his board, was a response to what was going on there. No one did any thing to "Mr. Green" here to cause such hateful aditude, but he reflected it anyway. Just so he could be banned and say "I told you so." As if some how, that would compare with him banning people on his bbs.

As one banned, I know of what I speak. Melissa's post is 100% accurate written with precise geometric exactitude. Every angle covered. In other words, B-I-N-G-O, Checkmate, and hopefully, case closed!

Re: jimmygecko

Hi Jimmy,

Yes, we were banned for a reason..."NO GOOD REASON". Keith Rowland is the no good reason. He's out-of-control and power happy. Whenever a person has control over something big, like a website, the power often goes to their head. That's what happened with KR.

Plus, he was trying to score points with a possible new job/promotion...which he did in fact get. Getting there, he began to taylor the website...deleting posts and threads to impress his new employer. In so doing, he bashed us listeners every which way...He is two-faced, a back stabber, and NO FRIEND of Art Bell's or us.

And if anyone tries to defend KR, especially after seeing all the stuff he said on this UBB (although some of them have now been deleted, like the "Moderator's Wanted" room) then they must be a friend of his.

His actions and behavior are unacceptable and very wrong, bad, dishonest, etc. etc. etc.

Amanda Taylor

Amanda The Moderators wanted forum was not deleted just turned off after all the problems we have had over moderators....

It is a tough job!

Dealing with threats from people you dont even know?

Some threats from people you thought you knew!!!!

Would you like me to archive the Moderators forum archived so you can read it again and maybe copy some of the information???

Hello revisedcode,

About the "Moderators" forum, I believe there was another thread missing...not archived. Is it somewhere that I've missed?

If I understand this right...(and I'm not sure I do) deleting and/or archiving threads because of negative posting...that's not going to solve the problem. You would've had to delete many of them if you'd done that when Carl Green was here, but you didn't. So why start doing that now?

Who can be so dangerous that you have to archive an entire thread? It doesn't make sense to me after what we went through with KR.

Also, I received an email from someone who has an address at "hotmail.com". He said he wasn't allowed to register because he had a hotmail address. Have you restricted hotmail users?

Many people use hotmail.com...it's the only way they can have an email.

Please comment...thanks, Amanda

Well, I haven't checked in for several days, and WOW! Looks like I've missed another nasty ordeal of some sort. I've been so busy I haven't taken time out from work. Now, I wish I had.

There is evidently something very suspicious going on here. This website must be making somebody, somewhere very nervous if they'd go to the extremes that I read in the "Official Announcement". It sounds like someone views this open forum as a threat. And, that can only mean that somebody in here has stumbled onto a VERY BIG truth, cause it sounds like a nerve has been hit!

I will make no accusations, because I have absolutely no evidence, but I'll bet we can all guess who or what is behind this latest attack.

When these attack postings take place, look at them very carefully, because there are bound to be clues. Watch for particular phrases, words, sentence structure, etc.; specific things that seem to be commonalities in the posts.

(Guess I've watched too many TV detective shows in my life!) But, I think someone like this always leaves little clues, not only to identity, but to motive, as well. When the motive can be figured out, then I think we'll know the TRUTH of what's really going on.

Just my own thoughts on the matter.

As one of our founding fathers once said: "Gentlemen, we must hang together, or we shall most certainly hang separately."

We are not alone...The Truth is out there...Trust No One

Topic closed.

Thread went off the point that Joe Quinn started.

This topic will be archived in our "The Beginning at www.mikesiegelc2c.com" Archive.

Also some of the concerns in this thread do not belong under any topic in PS MIKE SIEGEL, however, they are valid posts!
