Hello, Art -

Wanted to post a 'Thank you' to you - for your support of your admirers, and admirers of your show here on Fantastic Forum - during your retirement.

We were very happy to provide a place for many of your 'audience' to have a safe 'ship' to come for news, information, 'clues', and general keeping it together.

About the 'Saturday Night Mind Experiments' - yah never know - perhaps thay played an 'unseen' role in events as they transpired.

We are so pleased you came out of retirement to continue your show and keep it alive and well.

We hope you will continue to read the FF - as your busy schedule allows - and remember the fun we all had - and which we hope will continue.

The 'transition' may have been a little rough - but we always have our eye on 'course corrections' are tacking into fairer winds on the Ship Fantastic.

Peace to you and Ramona - and God Bless
All in all - it's still a Wonderful World!

Yes Art,

Thanks so much for telling us where to find you during that time, and for visiting the FF. It sure would've been lonely without you during those months, but you made yourself known to us, and even let us call you on 3830.

Now it's just WONDERFUL to have you back on the AM airwaves, and with 1/2 less commercial time. That is the greatest! (but don't overwork yourself).

What I like the most about less commercials...before, right when things would get going on your show, BAM!..there was a commercial. Now, the conversations keep going and going, and it's much more relaxing and interesting, because you and your guests are not interrupted.

Anyway, that was a great idea! So glad to have you back, and lovin' the show!

BTW, Art -

One of our new 'missions' is to support a forum thread here - to join the effort to get a 're-release' of that wonderful film - "Somewhere in Time". We also hope to be able to support Christopher Reeve's foundation for spinal cord research.

Who knows? If we do some Great Minds Experiments in that direction, we may just have enough 'mind and heart power' to sway the balances.

Hey FF - take a look at the new Somewhere in Time Forum thread - if you're interested.

Linnea -

I think the mind experiment would be a great idea "Somewhere" in the near future... Members will soon begin to realize that this campaign is about more than getting a movie re-released - it's about focusing on doing good - it's about making people happy and sharing our love with them - it's about helping people. The world needs more love. Art expressed that sentiment (in so many words) in his interview with Jane. Here is a shortcut to the "Somewhere in Time" thread. Click on the image below - if you're interested. 😊

Thanks for that everaftergirl...

What's so exciting about this whole thing is that it is something we can do while sitting at our computers that will have an effect on thousands of people! Now in my mind that beats the hell out of just chatting about our immediate concerns... That's not to say our immediate concerns aren't important, but I think most of us would like to think that what we do or say will have an effect.

Here is your chance to make something happen. Won't you feel proud when Art Bell announces that we - the crew on the pirate ship FANTASTIC - are the reason this movie got re-released!? I think so... Millions of dollars will be spent in the process of re-releasing this film all over the world. Probably as much - if not more - than it cost to make it.

Best of all, it was so easy to do! Join us in this Campaign mates...

The link to post your request is on the site. And don't forget to "Send to a Friend"! 😊
