Well folks -

This is it! The 'countdown' in earnest!
Wondering what you hope the return of Art Bell to his Coast to Coast Show will bring you?

Nine months ago - we listened to Art sign off Coast to Coast - The Art Bell Show - with varying reactions - mostly with great sadness and a feeling of having lost something - oh, so very special.

Most experienced a feeling of disbelief that something so central to his/her existence, somehow, was taken away.

Many asked why? - Why the feeling of great loss?

Why has Art Bell become so compelling? I believe it is because Art Bell is a truly authentic person - and, more importantly to his listening audience - he shares that authenticity with his audience.

In a time of rampant cynicism with the media - Art Bell's genuineness, his audacity, his willingness to grapple with the demons of untruth, misdirection, obfuscation and just general bewilderment with the maze of information 'out there' - and all done 'on the air' - for the listening audience to experience along with him - is an experience not to be missed!

Art Bell allows a suspension of disbelief - at least going in - which allows himself, and his listeners - to 'hear out' the message and the messengers - so that he and we may make our own judgments and conclusions about what is being offered.

Art Bell has pioneered a whole new 'genre' in talk radio, due to this 'authentic radio' style of interviewing those with a message - that is unparalleled in the broadcast industry. It is this style - that is uniquely Art Bell, his hallmark - and not any particular topic that he deals with.

So, we await, with delicious anticipation, that familiar sign-on..."From the High Desert and the Great American Southwest...this is Art Bell" - and we know we are along for the ride!

SO VERY WELL SAID.

I think what I hope for is an even stronger Art. I'd love to hear Ramona too. And, I hope Art shares with us ALL the detail's. ---Barb.

Hi Barb -

Yes! Wouldn't it be exciting if he could talk about the 'clues' he left. Both in the bumper music on his last shows - and the ones he gave us along the way.

Listening to Art on SW over the past months has sort of been like he's not been gone at all. He is very much the same Art when he's being himself as a Ham as he is when he's doing the show. But with him back on Coast, he'll be on a schedule. That's a big difference.

I just hope that I can switch my life around and get enough sleep before the show and be able to listen to both Coast and the 3830 Group. That's an all-nighter at least 5 nights a week. Looking forward to it for sure!

Linda

Linnea said, "...Nine months ago" Art left C2C. Well folks, that's as long as it takes to have a baby. So C2C is giving birth to Art again. 🇺🇸

Love the pic's Linnea. Can hardly wait until Feb. 5th. I know things are a little quiet here this week, but believe me, you know it's the calm before the storm. It's gonna be rockin' in here when Art returns.

And we're waitin' for the times to get better...which they definitely are... 😊

I'm expecting to again hear THAT voice share the same concerns I have, and fill me in on stuff I need to know. I expect and NEED Art to recap the events that have happened since he went off the air, those things we experienced without his insight/discussion that we NEEDED to hear Art talk about, if only to say "what's going on?" to comfort and let us know we're not alone. I'm expecting to be ENTERTAINED, in a way NO ONE can imitate (that's a proven FACT). I'm expecting Art not to miss a beat and to bring us the same and more of what he's famous for.

So Art, just be yourself, as always. Who and what you are, as a matter of course, encompasses all of the above.

I honestly feel we "wished" him back, not out of selfishness, but out of sheer human need. It's incredible.

HJ -- at your service, Art, from June 1 - Nov. 30 whenever a 'cane may strike my beloved Carolina coast, to report from the eye of the storm
