I haven't seen this anywhere on this board yet. I believe Ian announced this last night (I was half asleep at the time, so I could be wrong). He said Art would be on the Today Show on NBC with Katie Couric on Monday morning Feb. 5. The show airs for 3 hours, between 7AM and 10AM on the east coast. I guess this would be a good time to get out a fresh videotape, because I don't think many of us are up at that early hour. I know I am not. If anyone can confirm this, or has any further details, I would appreciate any follow-up posts !!
Thanks - George

I just lost a half-written post--don't know what I did--

Anyway, as I was saying, Art's interview just finished in the Central Time Zone and he was GREAT! Can't wait until tonight. I was amazed that Katie gave him so much time, didn't rush his answers and was POLITE. She let him say what he wanted about Matt being a jerk last year. I guess her tabloid experiences have made her a bit more understanding of what Art has suffered.

On a slightly unrelated topic--there is no mention of Art's return on the WOAI website (flagship station of Clear Channel, San Antonio, TX)! Mike Siegel is still listed on their talk lineup, only about 5 entries about it on their bulletin board most unfavorable!

I feel like I am out here in Hicksville all alone!!

There was a highly audible "behind the scenes" chuckle on the Today Show set when Art began talking about Matt quizzing him in regards to being a meteorologist.

Hi deeremom, I listen occasionally to WOAI on my way home, I think I heard a promo last week for Art's return. Guess we'll find out tonight!

The thing that struck me during this interview was how relaxed, healthy, refreshed and full of life Art was. This is great news!!! I am really looking forward to his return. I enjoyed the jab at Matt Lauer, also. It was well done and Lauer deserved it. I am very quick to criticize the media, as some of you know, but I think Katie Couric did a good job here with this interview.

Great interview, and Art started by saying "Fom the high desert and the great American southwest....." He looked so happy and not at all nervous. It was good that he was able to get his point across about the weather too, as he and Whitley were almost ridiculed last year on the Today show. I was glad to hear Art say that the subject matter of his show will remain the same (the interviewer had just read off a number of topics that Art talks about).

I spent the rest of the night looking at Art's new website - audio clips and photos galore - I am ecstatic 🍷🍷🍷

As it is now 7.07 am here, I think I had better get some ZZZZZ's or I won't be fresh to listen tonight.

Night all (or should I say good morning?)

Christine

I just saw the interview, and it was nicely done. I liked the shot Art took at Matt Lauer (the perfect example of a blow-dried, IQ of a canned ham, pretty boy talkshow host if I ever saw one)also. I almost wish they cut to his face when Art held up the US News and World Report cover!

Yes, revRecluse, wouldn't it have been great to see Matt's face? Bet he was ticked off. It was a great interview, but I thought Katie Couric was a little condescending when she introduced Art as being in his "doublewide trailer."

I was sad to hear that a new trial has been granted to the creep in the sexual assault case.

Katie did mention that C2C had lost 20% of its audience after "replacement" took over show. (Didn't mention name) Was pleased to hear Art say Premiere came to him and asked him to return.

I can't wait till tonight...will have to catch some ZZZZZ's this afternoon in preparation for the "ride!"

Looking great, and sounding fantastic Art!

I just loved it!

And especially the book 'Coming Global Super Storm'.. and back at you Matt, with U.S. News & World Report magazine 'Scary Weather' on the cover... Hee,hee It only took a year for them to catch on...Art your way ahead of the game!

Art, nice black 'ribbed' sweater you had on, hee,hee...

You look healthy, weathly, and wise...

And if you were a race horse, I'd be betting the farm on you...

Can't wait til the bell rings, and your out of the gate, and running on airwaves, once again.. See you tonight, in the moon light.

He's BAAAAAAAAAAAAACK!! Yes Our nobel and glorious leader Art Bell is back on the airways tonight! He made a guest appearance - well vocally on Mike Murphy's show - talk radio - KC, on Friday the 2nd. Mike replayed a small portion of the interview.

ART - great to have you home!

deeremom, you can also pick up the program on KLVI (560) in Dallas and KTRH (740). I live near Galveston and can listen to KLVI. I bought a crane radio as soon as I heard he was coming back, just to be sure I can pick him up, incase KTRH pre-empts for sports.

Sorry, Rev, but I have to stand up for my friend on this one. I've known Matt Lauer for more than 20 years. Despite the debauched interview last year, Matt Lauer is and always has been a PROFESSIONAL, even in his college years. He is a VERY intelligent and TALENTED man, and a sweetheart of a guy. I think what happened last year was the result of NBC producers trying to turn him into some sort of hard news guy. I think they still want him to "grow" into that, but I don't know...that's just not his style. He EARNED that job, the hard way. "Canned ham," he's not.

I think all you need to have to be a meteorologist is a good two sided coin and be very good at flipping it. We just got through with three to six inches of snow in South Dakota that turned into twenty three inches of snow. I am guessing the coin was defective or else the government had something to do with it!

Still digging out.

I'm sorry I dogged your friend Joan, but nothing I've seen from thr guy has impressed me from the times I've watched him on Today. He may very well be a sweetheart (I'll certainly take your word for it)but what he did to Art last year was weak, no matter if he or the NBC suits decided on it.

I can't believe the're going to have a new trial. This truly stinks.

I'm just guessing, but I think Art takes some kind of perverse pride in having a "Double Wide Trailer", so I don't think it was really a slam in the literal sense.
