Big Bully

http://www.salonmag.com/ent/feature/2001/04/30/clear_channel/index.html

from article-----

"Through a process known as "cyber-jocking," Clear Channel has eliminated hundreds, if not thousands, of DJ positions (and saved tens of millions in salary) by simply having one company jock send out his or her show to dozens of sister stations. Thanks to clever digital editing, the shows still often sound local. And this isn't just for the graveyard shifts but for midday and even morning-drive shows. "

This reminds me of the old show WKRP. There is an episode where Venus gets a new job at another station, and when he gets there, it is this white sterile room with computer equipment. He is told to just do his show and they will insert the music later.

Disney,

Tell me about Cheap Channel! On weekend evenings I can only get paid religious programming, replays of Phil Hendrie, and sports on their flagship station in San Antonio! I am very frustrated without "Listen Live"!

i live for Listen Live. All we get is free religious programming (to meet the legal limit), a paid herb show, some informercials, and some really bad local programming....I can only dread when we lose the local programming.

Puts me in mind of Thomas Mann - when referring to the advancing Third Reich - he said to just get along go along with Hitler's policies was like ending up in the belly of a dinosaur.

Kinda makes you wonder if Art is now staring at dinosaur ribs.

What an immense challenge to have dealings with a company with these kinds of tactics.

What would that do to one's soul - over time?

Art must be keeping 'them' at bay - as, in his biography, it would seem his style or panache - is to live free or die. He apparently - can not abide arbitrary authority.

However - to turn a blind eye on the doings of the parent corporation and what sounds like a scorched earth policy - must begin to take its toll - sooner or later.

Well - hats off to Art Bell - and for that matter - Keith Rowland as well - if they have learned how to survive and to keep C2C going given the policies of this megalithic monster.

I agree ... they gobble 'em up and spit 'em out. Local programming is "almost" a thing of the past

BUT ...

here in my city, the local FM public broadcasting station is beginning to expand local programming.

In fact, one of FF's own has a Sunday evening show called "Looking Back" -- plays old music, swing to beebop.

Be back with his answer asap.

uh...KR is in bed with them. Go to other premiere websites (<http://www.philhendrieshow.com>) for example and check to see if you know that webmaster. He even used the same javascript programming he did on Art's site....really don't like it much.

One hand greases the other (or however that quote goes.) If Art weren't a cash cow, he'd be outta there faster than yesterday's news.

Yes, I am the DJ. You can listen to my show by going to wabe.org and looking for instructions for downloading a small program called "chaincast". It allows you to listen to public radio stations around the country.

My picture is in the staff section. My show , "Looking Back" is on every Sunday at 6pm eastern time. The next show will be part two of Benny Goodman at Carnegie Hall in 1938.

Almost forgot!

Cool 93.1 Used to do a show called Live From Las Vegas. Thank #!@#@!# god that show died. This was their little "joke" and attempt at a overnight syndicated oldies show. Anyone heard of a show called "Supergold"?!
<http://www.supergold.net> This show has been around longer (and still is) then the above show!

Super Gold is a damn good show! When this station was Big Oldies 93.1, guess what they carried?!

See ya! 😊
