Could this not merely be the extension of our national obsession with being innocent?

I want to hear the judge say, "Innocent, on the grounds that we are all responsible for the things we stick in the damn toaster."

My kid has already learned this -- from her father (the ex). I'm patiently waiting for MY reward --- his final "payoff." 😊

G8R,
That last story was just...sad. What in hell is wrong with parents today? If you bring a child into this world then for Gods sake, pay attention to it! For something like this to happen indicates total apathy on the parents part. Mom and Dad should do a little time I think...might make 'em think.
