Just send a copy of this letter to ten of your friends who are equally distraught and unfulfilled. Then bundle up your husband and send him to the woman whose name appears at the top of the following list, and add your name to the bottom of the list. When your turn comes, you will receive 15,625 men. One of them is bound to be better than the one you already have. At the writing of this letter, a friend of mine has already received 184 men, of whom four were worth keeping. Remember, this chain letter brings luck. One woman's cat died, and the next day she received a house-broken hunk. An unmarried woman living with her widowed mother was able to choose between a Chippendale dancer and an Olympic swimmer. WARNING: DO NOT BREAK THE CHAIN! One woman broke the chain and got her own balding husband back again! Let's keep it going, ladies! Just add your name to the list below! <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. It told the receiver that his/her name had been given as a possible replacement for a person in the church who had died. They needed a drunk, gambler, woman-chaser, down and out type to sit in the front and be an example of what wild living does to a person. The letter went on to say that the church had been given the person's name and wondered if they'd like to come to a service. It was really funny, but I lost my copy. Has anyone ever seen something like this? [This message has been edited by Hilda Sophia (edited 08 August 2001).] IP: Logged

I got it as a fax back in 94 so it too has been around. ----- "We are the people your parents warned you about" J. Buffett IP: Logged
