We must begin to formulate interests of common respect and common trust between nations some day -- why not start today? I think that President Bush is totally off-the-beam on this one, and that he is merely promoting the DOD's and military-industrialists welfarism-interests; yes, it is a form of welfare, too, perhaps the biggest welfare not seen, not described. Think, imagine, how could your tax monies better serve humanity with $SIXTY BILLION? I appreciate ART BELL supporting this imporant endeavor -- to stop promoting Star Wars madness. How arrogant for our President of the United States to try to dictate to all of humanity what sorts of weaponry should be promoted in the heavens. There is no mutual world accord on this drastic step, and it may only promote a devastating whirlwind of agitations around the globe as nations begin to believe that they have become targets of Star Wars ventures in the heavens. The communities of Europe have demonstrated forcefully that they donot support this Star Wars stuff, or whatever they have re-named it. We say we want world peace, but our or Bush's actions in promoting these sorts of tactical weapons in the heavens bespeaks of monstrous arrogance, and not a little bit of evil as it will perpetrate more suspicions about America's power-lusting. Ninerism
