My first After Dark Newsletter was October 1999 edition.
(From page 2: By Art Bell
Is There Something Out There? Hell Yes!
Join me in helping SETI find intelligent life in the universe.)
Every month I looked forward to Arts page (from Art Bell).
I enjoyed every bit of Art Bell After Dark, October, November, December, January, February, March and April. Then it changed to "The official Coast to Coast AM Newsletter"
I am wondering what my ship mates think about the newsletter, Past and Present?.
Thanks
And keep crunching

I too have a subscription to After Dark, and loved it until Art left. Now, I don't even read it. Mostly it lays around about 2 weeks and then goes in the trash - unopened.

I have such a dislike and bad taste in my mouth from Mike and Premier that I want nothing to do with it.

Guess that's a big waste of money, but oh well - at least it wasn't that much $$ to start with.

A few weeks ago, Ian Punnett made a comment about the issue in which he had an article, and said he had the honor of having an article in the least ordered magazine around. I thought that was an interesting comment. That tells me that there is no joy in Muddville, for the mighty Casey has struck out!

We are not alone...The Truth is out there...Trust No One

Interesting posts Emburstro & Carol - when I renewed my subscription in early April, I asked the direct question, "would Art Bell still be contributing to the publication?" Because if he was not, then I would not have been interested in 'automatically' renewing. I was told yes, and based on that I renewed 🤔

Also, perhaps they're sent out alpha, but typically I'm just receiving mine as Mike comments that the latest one is just going into the mail. 🤔

It is now February 10th and still no issue. I know Art is on the cover of the issue. I am getting the feeling someone in the post office is an Art Bell fan!! IP: Logged

Does anyone who subscribes to ADN know about this article? It may be coming out in the April 2001 issue. If so, would anyone mind sending me a copy of this when they get it? IP: Logged
